Religious Baby Gifts Section at Spiffy Baby

Spiffy Baby introduces to its valued customers a long-awaited Religious Baby Gifts section. In this section our patrons will find precious Keepsakes and gifts of faith and religion. Precious baby jewelry with silver and pearl cross charms found in this section will be kept as an heirloom throughout the child's life. These bracelets, as well as other unique items, make a gorgeous gift for baby's Christening or Baptism. Here, you can also find beautiful fluffy bears, musical pillows, lavishly embroidered toys, all with the innocence of a newborn baby.

We even offer a Keepsake Baby Bible. This book of the New Testament will become a traveling companion through the child's Special Occasions in life, to the Wedding Day and beyond. If the baby requires a more elaborate gift, then Spiffy Baby offers an elegant Christening Set with an embroidered Christening bib, porcelain Cross figurine and the Baby's First Bible. This section, along with the whole boutique, is constantly growing. Please check back often to find more unique products.

Swaddling Your Baby-- needed rest for all

Swaddling is the art of snugly wrapping your baby in a blanket for warmth and security. It can keep him from being disturbed by his own reflexes, and it may even help him stay warm and toasty for the first few days of life until his internal thermostat kicks in. Most important, it can help to calm your baby. Once your baby is about a month old you might want to stop swaddling him while he's awake, as it may interfere with mobility and development in older babies. It's fine to keep swaddling your baby for naps and nighttime if he seems to sleep better that way. He'll let you know by crying or kicking when he no longer wants to be bundled up.
