

October Treats from Spiffy Baby

Kaloo Blue – French Luxury for Baby Boys

Kaloo is a success story in the highly competitive sector of soft toys and baby items. The brand was created in 1998 by a French designer Eric Panciulo. Originally a toy manufacturer, he has transformed his company into a specialized one, in the design and production of soft toys and baby items. The company which was mainly set up for the European market, now exports to about 35 countries.

After only a few years, Kaloo had become a well-known brand in many countries. Dedication to design and quality along with awareness of the expected needs of the market are the key points of their strategy. The best quality materials are used and tested before marketing. All items are produced according to the European and American safety standards. Kaloo Blue is a much needed line targeted to supply baby boys with gentle, yet boyish, toys and baby accessories. All Kaloo items are gorgeous and unique, however, the Blue line is something truly special for Baby Boys. See for yourself!

Do you know a Little New Yorker?

Bibi & Mimi is a design oriented company that creates shoes, onesies and socks that are uniquely gift packaged. Their love for children is their biggest inspiration for creating all the colorful, expressive, humorous and adorable products that are outstanding in the children's market. They are committed to the creation of high quality products with modern flare for the little ones in our lives. Like this adorable baby onesie that reads Little New Yorker. Too cute!
